The Taipei City Government began testing the idea of bike sharing in 2008. They worked on the Youbike system, so people could ride bikes from MRT stations to their final destinations. They hoped this system would reduce traffic and pollution and make more people go biking in the city.

By 2011, the idea became very popular, so they set bike renting stations all over the city and gave special discounts to the members of the system. So how does the system work? You can become a Youbike member by using your Easycard. Then at any Youbike station you can put your Easycard on the top of the card dock beside the bike you want to rent. Wait for the green light, and then you can rent a bike to enjoy your ride.
